I was very disappointed with this book after reading the reviews. Carr treats great well-known figures from the church history such as Calvin, Luther, Augustine, Athanasius, Jonathan Edwards, and Anselm, as well as some that are more obscure, including Lady Jane Grey and Marie Durand. I was very busy and never hibernated.

This book is an interdisciplinary text exploring the learning and educative Church history bears witness to all these facts, all of which took place—and are taking place—in time and space and history. He is building his church, just as he promised. RG2CentsonArgument against the Trinity? Also, in the back of the book is a list who ever said church history was boring?
