The other portrait A Lasting Record the book is that of Roy Preston, an unassuming World War II veteran, who by day worked at Myer in Melbourne, but in his spare time recorded concert performances broadcast by the ABC, using what was then state of the art recording equipment. We did a search for other books with a similar title, and found some results for you that may be helpful.

I think of these molecular records as being like a newspaper. As long as the chemical was there, the neurons were active, allowing us to keep them turned on for various lengths of time. Can it really be November already?
